Final UI/UX Quality Assurance and Main Flow

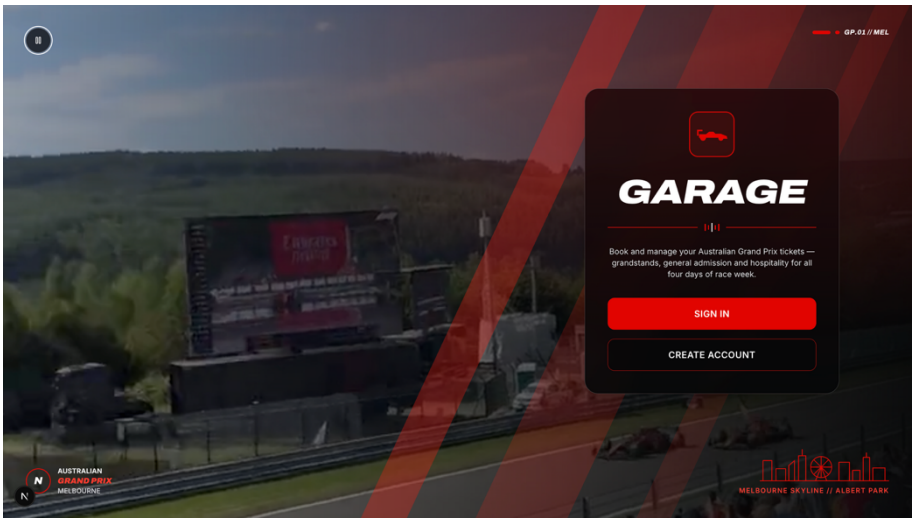

All onboarding pages follow the same colour scheme of black and red, with the same three prominent stripes across the righthand side, and accents in each of the corners for consistency.

The dashboard and main tickets page share a lot of design similarities for ease of use, and both continue with the previous established colour scheme. They were designed to be similar for familiarity purposes, so as to encourage customers to purchase more tickets by having them already comfortable with the tickets page layout from the dashboard.

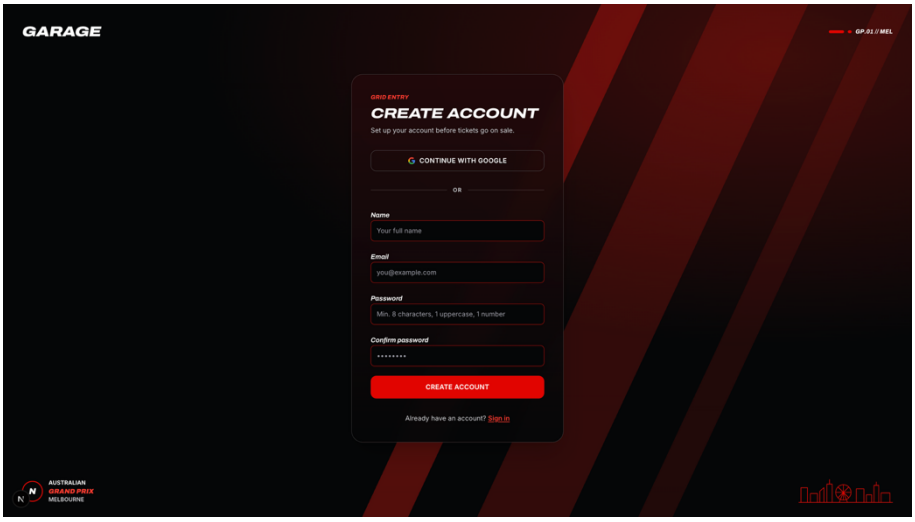

Each of the individual parts of the ticketing flow remains intuitive with large buttons for viewing further details about each ticket and a large empty indicator on the right which should encourage the user to select multiple tickets to compare. This leads to the comparison screen which highlights all the differences between the tickets selected. All of which remaining within the defined black and red colour scheme.

[See Appendix]

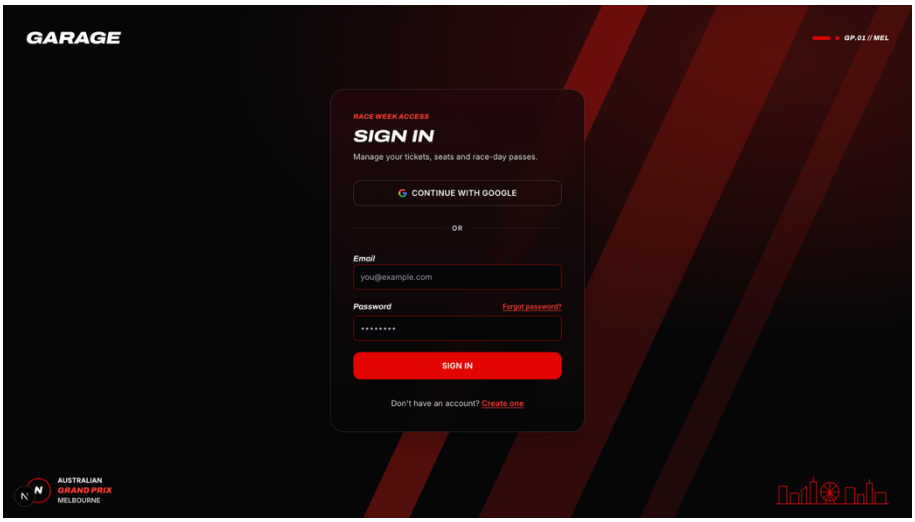

Appendix

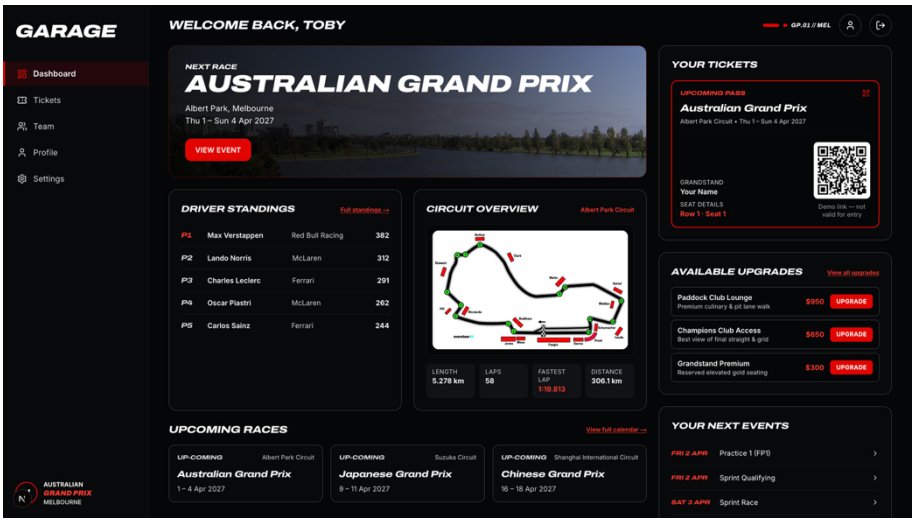

[Landing Page]

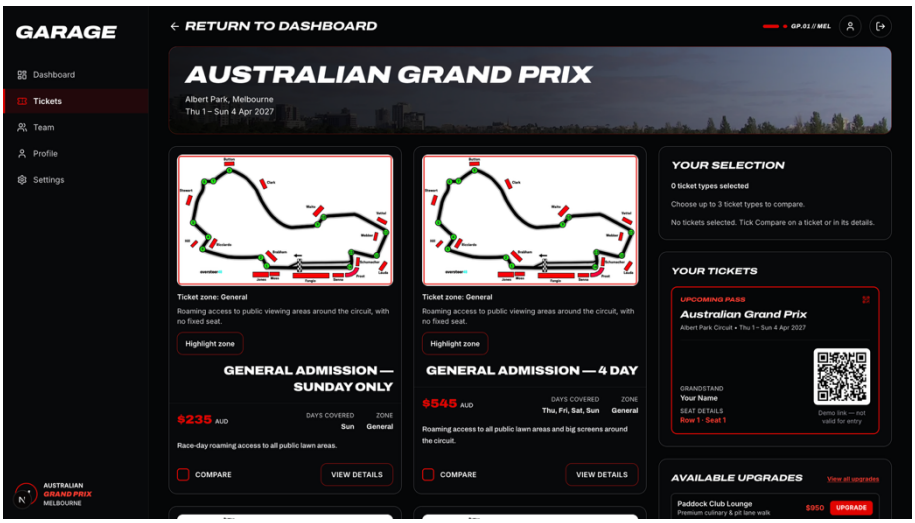

[Sign Up/Create Account Page]

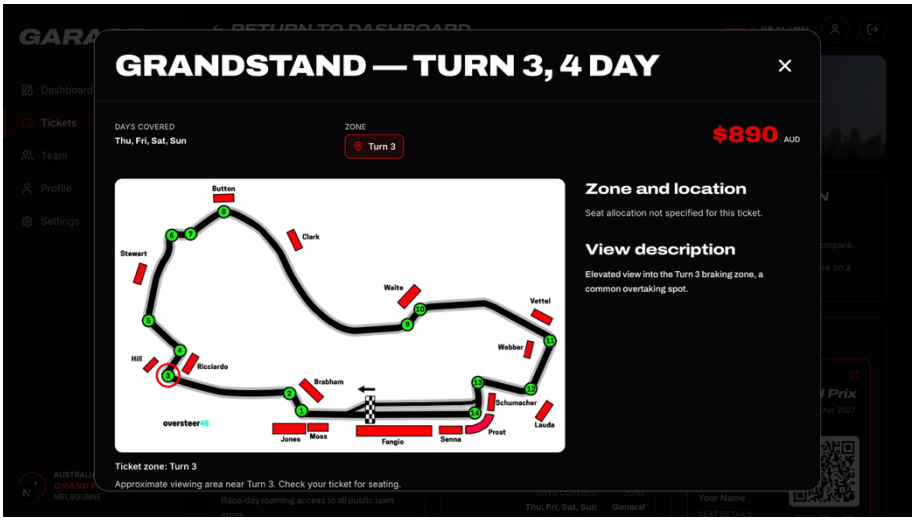

[Sign In Page]

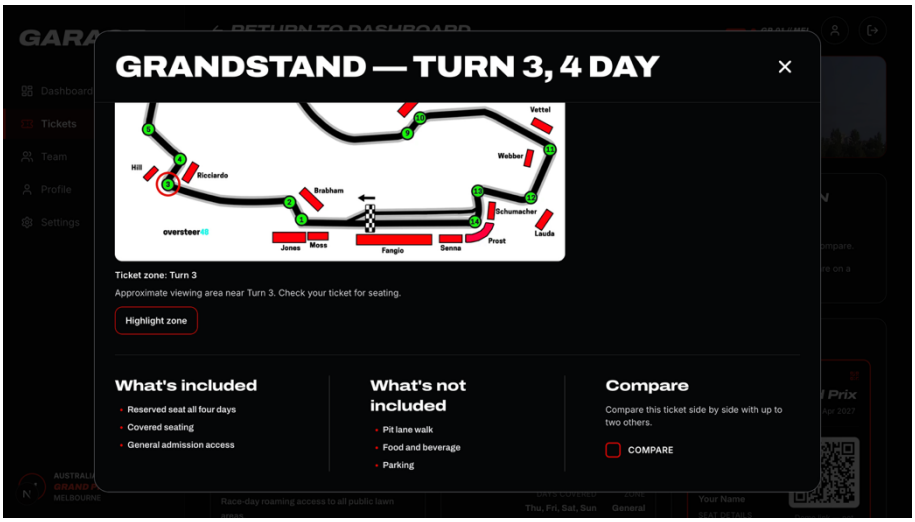

[Dashboard]

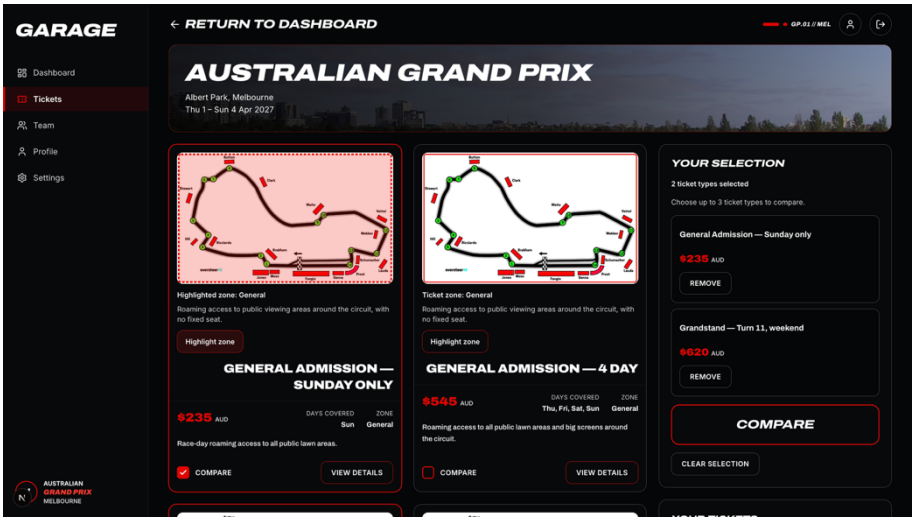

[Tickets Page]

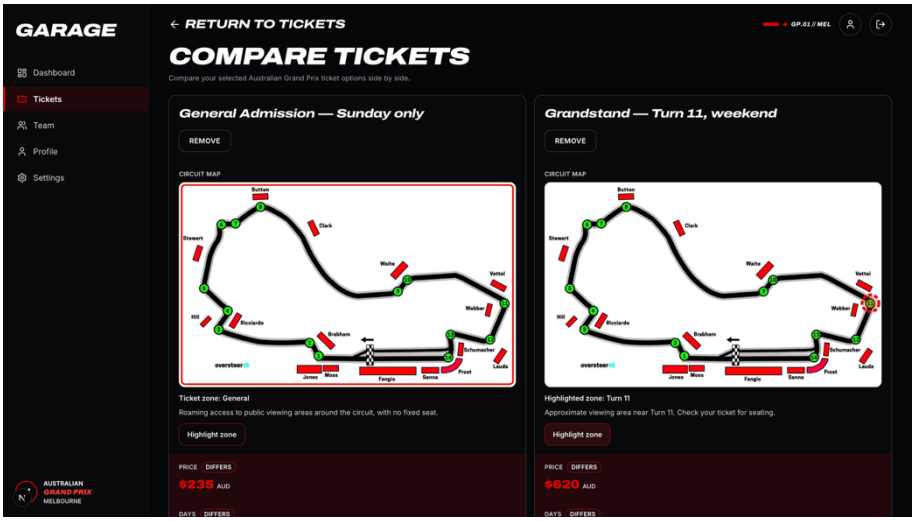

[Tickets Detail Modal (Top)]

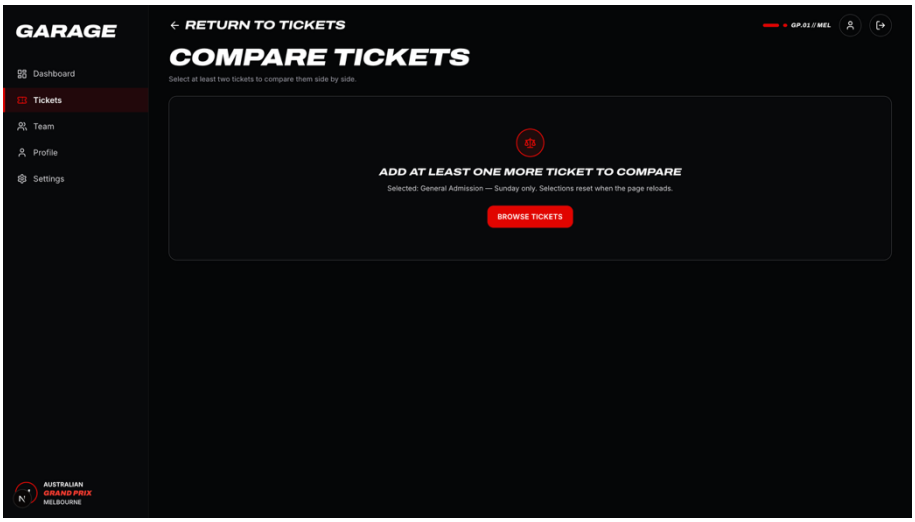

[Tickets Detail Modal (Bottom)]

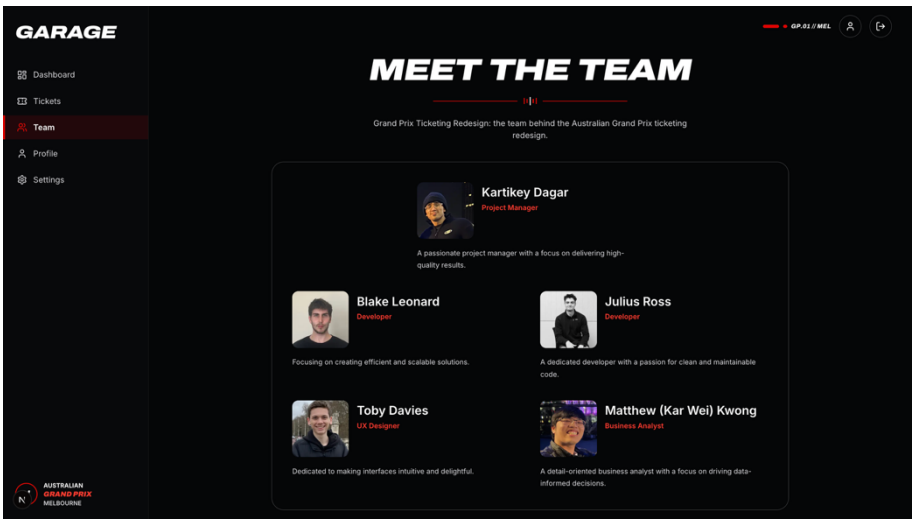

[Tickets Page Compare Highlight]

[Compare Tickets Screen]

[Compare Tickets Screen (Empty)]

[Team Page]